

North Riverfront Trail on the Ten Toes Express

TOTAL WALK DISTANCE: 1.25 miles minimum

The Riverfront Trail is a multi-use paved path running north from Laclede's Landing. It takes you alongside the Mississippi through former industrial areas of the City with sites of historic interest to be developed. It crosses the River at the Chain of Rocks Bridge, 11 miles beyond the Arch. Mileage to various points of interest along the way is posted at the former Laclede Power Plant, soon to be a new Visitors' Center for the area. A small park by whimsical artist Bob Cassilly and a colorful tile mural decorating the floodwall begin the trail. (more info: www.Trailnet.org)

Directions:

- Take MetroLink to Arch-Laclede's Landing.
- Exit down the stairs or elevator, then walk toward the River.
- Turn left to follow Lenore K. Sullivan Boulevard north.
- Continue to the old UE Power Plant, now home to Trigen Energy which continues to produce steam for downtown St. Louis.
- Continue north past Trigen to the former Laclede Power Plant, .6 mile from MetroLink.
- Access the Trail by keeping the Laclede building on your left. Walk through the floodwall to see the Mississippi up close.
- Walk as many miles as you wish, knowing you will double your mileage on your return to Metro. Reward yourself with lunch on the Landing!
